

Most Likely To Succeed

Rethink the Experience of Education

Follow students, parents and teachers through a truly unique experience that forces the audience to consider the sort of educational environment that is most likely to succeed in the 21st century.

We invite the decision makers of the education and education architecture & design community to our WorkBetterLab in Philadelphia on April 27th. We'll be hosting a watch party of Most Likely to Succeed, a renowned documentary which focuses on a school in San Diego which is reimagining the process of teaching and learning.

After the movie, we'll discuss the shifting experience of education environments with Thomas Mosca, Director of Teaching & Learning at String Theory Schools, and Alan Metcalfe, AIA at Metcalfe Architecture & Design. Then, visitors will be welcome to explore the showroom and see some of the trends shaping Steelcase Learning's vision of the future of design in education.

When: 5-7:30pm, April 27th, 2023

Where: 28th Floor, 1818 Market Street Philadelphia, PA, 19103
